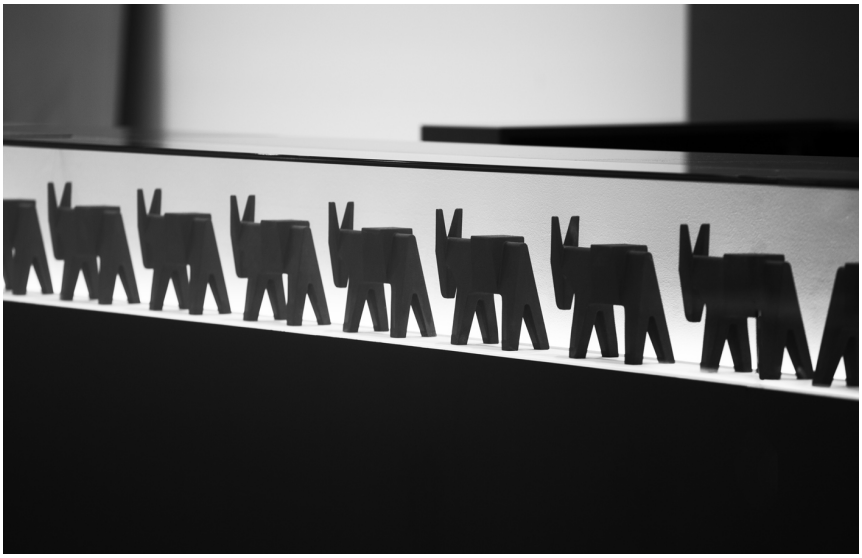
Ettore — design Konstantin Grcic, 2016



It says a lot about Perazza, founder and head of Magis, that he has chosen the mule as emblem of his company.
And, obviously, it says a lot about the company, its spirit and character being hard working, tireless.
While we were working on the BRUT collection of cast-iron furniture, Perazza asked me if I could draw a mule to be made cast in iron for the company´s 40th anniversary.

At first I was surprised, thinking that I have probably not drawn an animal since my childhood.
I did it, and it was fun.
ETTORE turned out a real mule, its legs firmly on the ground, determined and strong.
But it is also a beautiful thing, loveable and playful. Just like Magis.
